

Woman of Another World, I Am with You

You, woman of different tongue, awaken me.

Speak in the language of light
that flutters between us.
Open my heart to your dailiness;
give voice to your fears and celebrations
as you wonder at mine.

Your family becomes me,
the substance of what you believe colors my view.
You take me on.

Here, here is my hand.
Filled with yours
it pulses with new hope
and a fierce longing
to let the light that guides us both tell me where to be.